Notes:

All purchase & sale deeds and other related documents must be translated in English and duly attested by Notary Public

Further documentation might be required after careful review of you prior year tax returns and assessing the nature of asset, use of asset, rental income and other relevant information.

Please disclose all details very carefully as failure to disclose and prove all relevant details about your foreign assets and income might result in paying significant amounts in taxes and penalties to CRA. In case, you couldn't justify it properly then all foreign remittances transferred to your Canadian Financial Institutions will be treated as Foreign income in that particular year and you will be liable to pay income tax. Due to large sum of amounts in such cases, the taxes can be up to 50% of total remittance which means you will be putting 50% of your hard-earned dollars at stake.
